

Are CAC's the Safest Place?

Training Objectives:

- Understand concept of personal lenses as they relate to the way we see our work and begin to identify own cultural, gender, ethnic, and generational lenses
- Understand how personal (and agency) lenses impact the work you do
- Recognize places personal and agency lenses fall short of truly meeting the needs of your clients
- Receive resources to enhance your work by expanding your lenses and building your network

Target Audience:

CAC Directors and Program Staff, Multidisciplinary Team members, Students going into field of child sexual abuse

Duration:

1.5 hours. Portions of this training can be customized in a shorter time period to begin the discussion for why an agency might choose to engage in longer and deeper discussions around diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Location:

This training is available by request at your facility or the Children's Advocacy Center of Kent County. This training may also be available via live webinar, pending available technology.
